

Commonwealth Psychosocial Support

Referral form

The Commonwealth Psychosocial Support Program provides free psychosocial support for people living in regional, rural, and remote NSW. The Western NSW Primary Health Network funds this program.

Psychosocial supports are non-clinical, community-based services designed to assist individuals in their recovery journey within the community. These supports focus on building personal capacity and stability in areas such as social engagement, financial management, housing support, goal setting for employment or education, managing substance use and maintaining overall health and wellbeing. Our aim is to help individuals build confidence and live as independently as possible.

The Commonwealth Psychosocial Support Program is not a crisis service. If you or the person you are referring is presenting with acute mental health support needs, please immediately contact emergency services on triple zero (000), or attend your nearest emergency department.

To refer yourself or a client, please complete the below referral form and email all referrals to:
